给下面回答打分

Well, I prefer to be taught by experienced teachers. This is because they can teach better. Since these experienced teachers have been teaching the same subject for a long time, they must know what the key points are. So during their classes, they can focus on the key points and help the students to understand everything. Also, I like experienced teachers because they know how to communicate with students. They can even become friends with students... [76 words]

给下面回答打分

Honestly, I would like to be taught by experienced teachers. This is because they can teach better. Since they have many years on the job, they are actually very familiar with the teaching methodologies as well as techniques. So for example, at the beginning of each class, they may organize lead-in or warm-up activities. In this case, students can actually feel comfortable; they can actually feel relaxed. So they are actually ready to learn. Also, I think experienced teachers can teach better because, you know, they have better ways to organize those learning activities. You know, when new teachers teach grammar, they just present the rules. So it's actually very boring. But when experienced teachers do the same thing, they may organize games; or they may actually use role-plays to help students to master the knowledge. That's why I like experienced teachers. 托福口语高分标准一表达

His pronunciation is clear, though his speech lacks fluidity and his pauses tend to break up natural syntactic groupings. He also has a rather flat intonation. Thus, while perfectly intelligible, his overall delivery makes the response somewhat difficult to listen to.
